explore, discover, live

A THRIVING CITY

You might not expect to find countless opportunities in a city with a population just over 69,088; however, Grande Prairie offers an intriguing mix of small city community and big city benefits. The city's advantage in attracting businesses, jobs, and people comes from its agricultural industry, strategic location, and diverse wealth of natural resources—including oil, natural gas, coal, and lumber.

As the largest commercial centre north of Edmonton, Grande Prairie draws people from all over the world to work and live, as well as serves as a hub to outlying areas. The city serves residents from northeastern British Columbia and northwestern Alberta to as far away as the Yukon and Northwest Territories creating a total trade area of over 288,496 people. The city's impressive draw from the surrounding area allows residents and visitors alike to enjoy a wide variety of shopping and recreation.

The abundance of jobs and Grande Prairie's status as the Most Entrepreneurial Community in Canada for three consecutive years has made it the perfect place for young people to start their careers and families. Grande Prairie is one of the youngest cities in Canada, boasting more children entering kindergarten than adults heading into retirement. To allow this population to thrive, the city has developed a wide range of activities and amenities for residents of all ages, from children to the elderly.

Grande Prairie is a four-season playground with so much, both indoors and outdoors, to entertain visitors, newcomers, and long term-residents. Whether you like adventure, learning, or relaxation Grande Prairie has something for everyone.

In Grande Prairie it's easy to get out and get active: you can walk the trails in Muskoseepi Park, play a round of golf at one of the local courses, or even surf at the state of the art Eastlink Centre.

The city also has a number of parks and spectacular green spaces for outdoor enjoyment right in the city. In the foothills just south of Grande Prairie you can find year-round entertainment and great camping opportunities.

If you're a fan of sports you can cheer on the Grande Prairie Storm at an AJHL game or catch one of the major local, national, or international sporting events that Grande Prairie has gained a reputation for hosting. Recent events include: the 2015 Tour of Alberta, the 2015 Canada Cup of Curling, the 2016 Scotties Tournament of Hearts, 2018 Alberta Summer Games and a Pinty's Grande Slam of Curling event in 2020.

Lovers of art and culture will have no trouble finding entertainment in the city. Revolution Place hosts world-class acts like Rihanna, Keith Urban, and Elton John. The Grande Prairie Live Theatre regularly showcases local talent and produces plays, concerts, film festivals, and other events. Those looking for inspiration can visit the Art Gallery of Grande Prairie, which houses the largest public art collection in the region. For the hands on experience, the Centre for Creative Arts offers a range of classes to learn new skills.

With something for everyone, Grande Prairie is the perfect place to start your family, or set out on your own. Not only is the city a great place to live and work, but it is a place where you can thrive.

WHAT'S AROUND

Grande Prairie's ideal location means that it not only acts as a hub to draw people from the surrounding area but also that it is the focal point of a vibrant region. You can take advantage of how easy it is to travel in the region to explore beyond the city itself and discover an extensive network of nearby towns and cities, both in Alberta and British Columbia.

Located where Highways 2, 40, and 43 meet, it's easy to drive to or from the city. If you prefer to fly, the Grande Prairie Airport has direct flights to Edmonton and Calgary allowing residents to comfortably travel near and far.

Leaving the city you will encounter farm and parkland, giving the area the vast and open feeling of the natural prairie landscape. If you want a break from the beautiful endless skies of the prairies you can head south or west from the city into the foothills and you will encounter a very different landscape of vast boreal forest and towering Rockies.

An abundance of provincial parks can be found in nearly any direction from the city if you like to explore, hike, or camp. To take in the breathtaking beauty of nature in comfort, and for world-class skiing, hot springs, and restaurants you can travel to Jasper National Park, just four hours south of Grande Prairie.

For a bit of history, you can take a scenic drive north, where you will encounter the majestic Peace River Valley while crossing the historic Dunvegan Bridge. You can learn amazing things about the region by exploring the many homesteads and museums that surround the city.

From stunning natural landscapes and outdoor adventures to a wealth of history and discovery the region surrounding Grande Prairie is yours to explore.

over a hundred years of history

HISTORIC HUB

Grande Prairie is located in Alberta's Peace Country, so named for the Peace River, which flows through the area. Before the arrival of European settlers, the prairie was home to the Beaver First Nation, with bands of Cree sometimes travelling through the region as well.

Since the 17th century, the fur trade brought European explorers further and further west, and in 1793, Alexander Mackenzie became the first European to travel through the Peace River Region. In 1805, the initial fur trade post was established in the region on behalf of the North West Company.

A Hudson's Bay trading post was established near Grande Prairie in 1881. The beginning of the 20th century saw more settlers in search of farmland, and in 1910, the town site was laid out by the Argonaut Company. In 1911, a two-storey store was erected on the corner of what is now 100th Avenue and 100th Street, and soon after, much of the Grande Prairie town site began to be taken up by various businesses, ready to serve the incoming settlers. Grande Prairie was incorporated as a village in 1914.

During the Great Depression, more settlers arrived from the drought-stricken southern prairies. They came north to farm the moist, fertile soils of the Peace. The Depression was difficult for people on the prairies, but thanks to the favourable weather conditions of the Peace River Region residents fared relatively well. Agriculture built the foundation of Grande Prairie in the early 20th century, and it remains important today. The region produces more grain than the entire province of Manitoba, as well as the largest share of the Canadian honey supply.

The discovery of oil at Leduc, Alberta in 1947 ignited a series of explorations leading to the discovery of bountiful reserves of oil and natural gas in the Peace Region. Though some exploration and drilling occurred in the early parts of the 20th century, it was the post-war explorations that spurred the oil and gas industry in the area. As more and more reserves were discovered, the economy expanded and the region's population increased dramatically. Today, the oil and natural gas industry has become integral to Grande Prairie's economic growth.

The second half of the 20th century was the beginning of an era of prosperity for Grande Prairie. The rapid economic and population growth in the town and region led to Grande Prairie becoming a City in 1958. This growth quickly drove up demand for infrastructure and workforce development.

To address the region's growing need for post-secondary education, the Grande Prairie Junior College was established in 1965, becoming the Grande Prairie Regional College in 1974. The modern structure bordering Muskoseepi Park was designed by world-renowned architect Douglas J. Cardinal. Following the construction of the college was the opening of the Prairie Mall, attracting international stores and shoppers to the city.

Grande Prairie's role as a regional hub was enhanced in 1982 with the opening of the new Courthouse and Provincial Building to service the region's need for Alberta Government services. The opening of Crystal Park School in 1983 brought Grande Prairie the first integrated school in Alberta combining regular school with programs traditionally only found in hospitals. Building on the region's success, a 161-bed hospital was opened in 1984 to accommodate a growing population base.

Grande Prairie continues to grow and expand every year. To accommodate the growing population, the Grande Prairie Regional Hospital is slated for completion in 2020. The new facility will function as a regional referral centre, providing health services to northwestern Alberta residents and allowing more northern patients to receive specialized and complex care, closer to home and with shorter wait times.

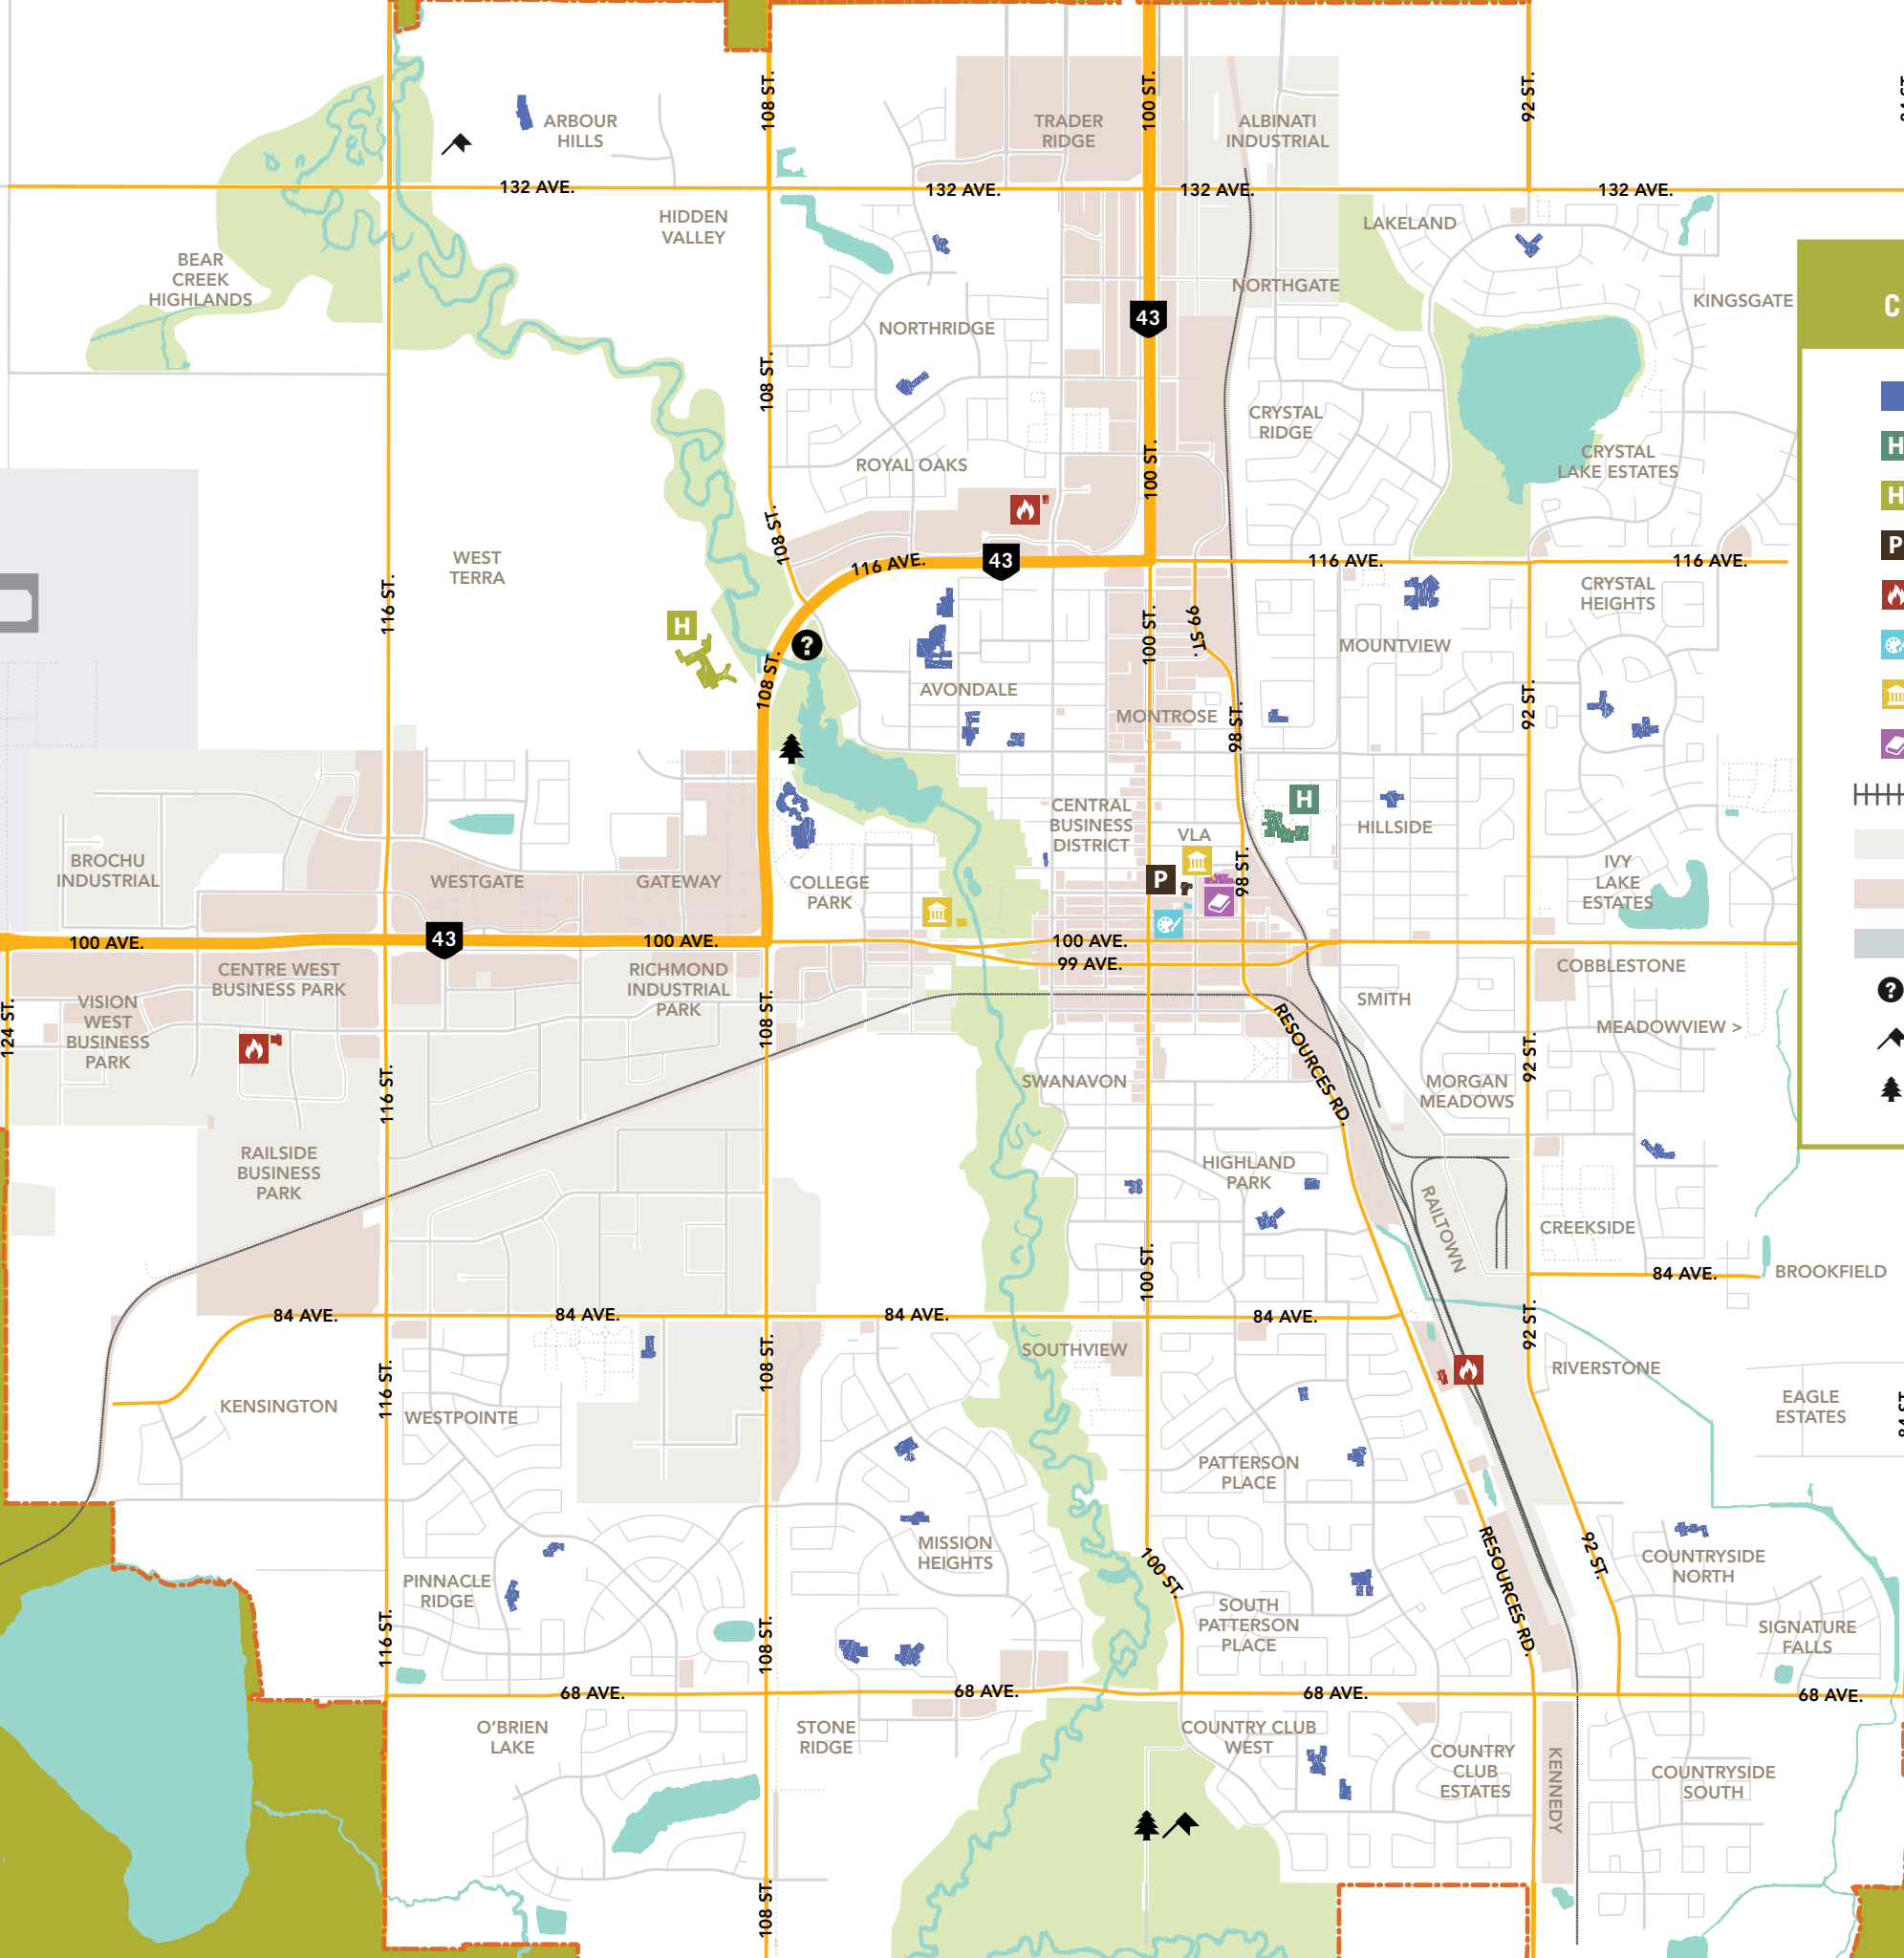

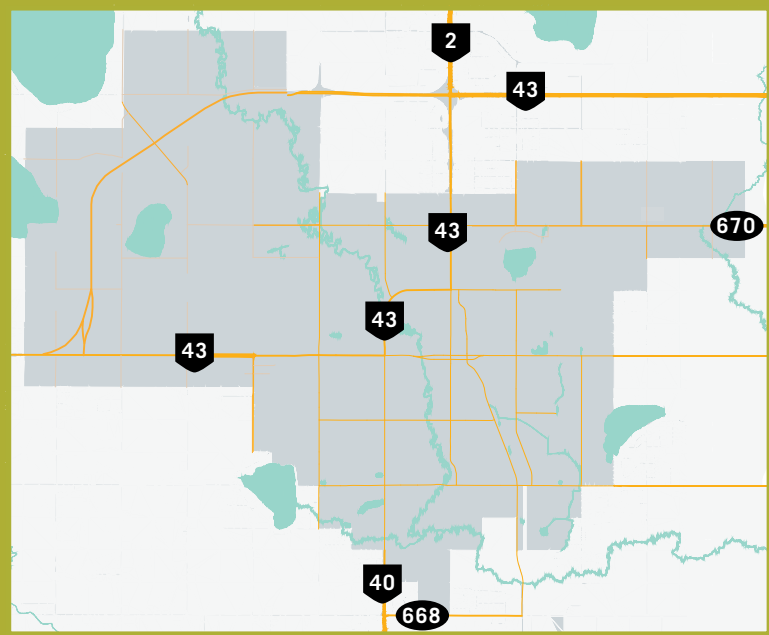

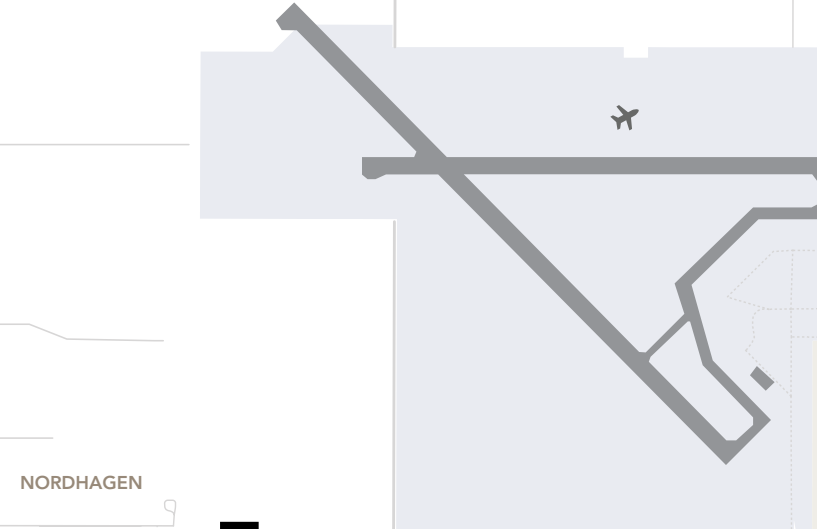

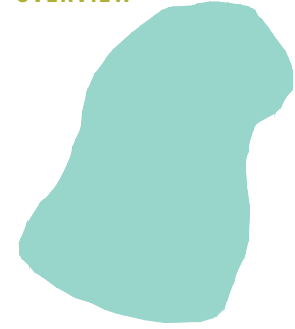

Grande Prairie is a city of constant change and growth. As talented young workers and their families move to the area in search of opportunities, they continue to help shape the city into the vibrant community that it is.

POPULATION

BEAR CREEK FOLK FESTIVAL | CITY OF GRANDE PRAIRIE

With a median age of 31.9, well below the national average of 40.8 Grande Prairie is an exceptionally young city. Whether it is parents pushing a stroller, children filling the Eastlink Centre or families biking one of the many trails, there are signs of youth everywhere you turn.

Grande Prairie's youthfulness is a result of the growing opportunities presented by its role as a regional hub as well as the area's many natural resources. Grande Prairie's population grew 92.1% between 2000 and 2018 as people flocked to the area for job opportunities.

HOUSING

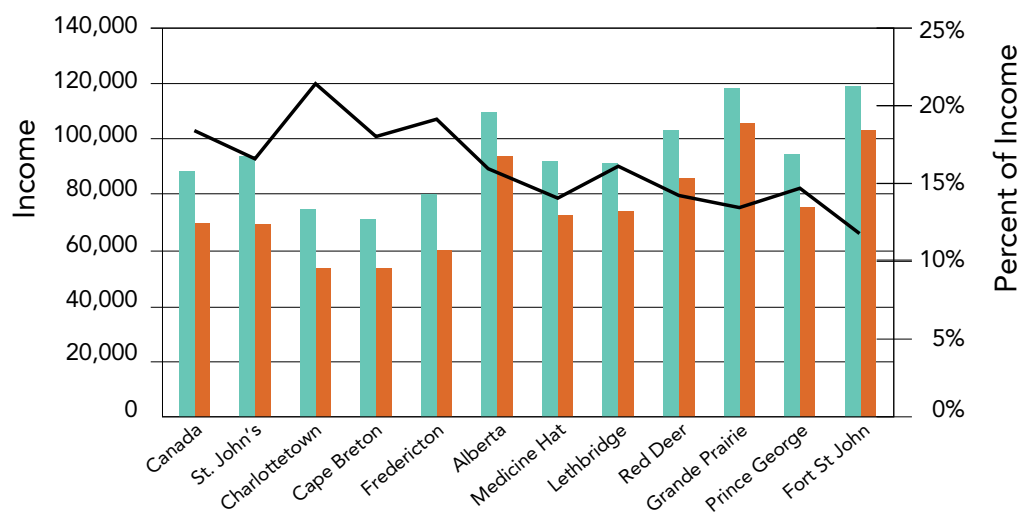

COUNTRYSIDE SOUTH SUBDIVISION | WILLIAM VAVREK

Being a city in northwestern Alberta, it is often believed that the cost of living in Grande Prairie is high relative to the rest of Canada or even the Province.

However, the cost of living is very comparable with the rest of Alberta. With a high average household income and a discretionary income that is double the national average, Grande Prairie residents are accustomed to a comfortable lifestyle. The local real estate market remains affordable. The city's construction remains busy with Building and Inspection Services issuing a total of 922 permits in 2019. The annual average home price in Grande Prairie rose slightly to $310,051, a 2% increase from 2018, yet significantly lower than the provincial average of $370,440 and national average of $517,000.

The average rent for a two bedroom suite in Grande Prairie remained affordable in 2019 at $1,190 per month, compared to the province wide average of $1,225.

SETTLING IN

keeping our city clean

ENVIRONMENT

CITY PARK | BEAUCHAMP PHOTOGRAPHY

Through a blend of standard practices and community initiatives, Grande Prairie takes care of the environment we live in.

Residents have the advantage of Aquatera's curbside recycling and recycling depot and the City of Grande Prairie offers a number of community based initiatives to inform residents.

SERVICE PROVIDERS

AQUATERA CURBSIDE RECYCLING

Aquatera offers recycling pick-up services alongside residential solid waste collection. Just clean and bag your recyclables and leave them at the curb – it's that easy! There is no limit to your recycling, so leave out as many bags of recyclables as you like. aquatera.ca | 780-538-0452

AQUATERA GRANDE PRAIRIE ECO CENTRE

Operated by Aquatera, the Eco Centre is the largest recycling depot in Grande Prairie. You can recycle everything from plastics and Styrofoam to light bulbs, TVs, and computers to propane tanks and liquid chemical waste. Staff are available at the centre to help with your recycling needs. aquatera.ca | 780-538-0452

RURAL SERVICE AREA

Residents living in the rural service area should contact Energy Management & Environmental Services to learn about services in their area. 780-538-0300

CITY ENVIRONMENTAL INITIATIVES

CITY SCRUB

Every year schools, businesses, residents, and community groups volunteer 20 minutes of their time to pick up garbage in and around the city.

City Scrub occurs in the spring and has more than 8,000 participants helping to make our city a cleaner place.

COMMUNITY ENHANCEMENT GRANTS

Each year the city supports a number of community environmental and beautification initiatives through the community enhancement grants.

Visit cityofgp.com/beautificationgrant to find out if your community project is eligible!

EDIBLE PLANTING

The city has an edible planting policy that increases the number of planted fruit trees and shrubs throughout the community. Edible trees and shrubs are planted in parks throughout the city and residents are encouraged to enjoy the harvest.

VERMICOMPOSTING

The city offers sessions several times a year on composting indoor worm organic waste in order to decrease waste being sent to the landfill. This type of composting can be done year round and is a great way to repurpose your organic waste.

a hub for health

HEALTH CARE

NEW GRANDE PRAIRIE REGIONAL HOSPITAL | WILLIAM VAVREK

As the major urban centre, Grande Prairie is the regional hub for health and medical services in Northwestern Alberta.

Grande Prairie is home to many health services including the Queen Elizabeth II (QEII) Hospital, our new regional hospital, cancer care, community programs and family physicians. Our healthcare teams work hard to care for residents of the northwest part of the province and beyond.

NEW GRANDE PRAIRIE REGIONAL HOSPITAL (UNDER CONSTRUCTION)

The new regional hospital and cancer centre in Grande Prairie will help more northern patients receive specialized and complex care, closer to home and with shorter wait times. Functioning as a regional referral centre, the new hospital will provide health services to residents from all over northwestern Alberta.

Grande Prairie Regional Hospital will include:

- An increase in the ICU spaces that allows for growth to the emergency department. The new site will have 172 beds and capacity to add an additional 60 in the future.

- A state-of-the-art cancer centre with two radiation vaults, for the first time bringing radiation therapy services to the community and the surrounding region. Grande Prairie will become the fifth city in the province to offer radiation therapy.
- Eight operating rooms. Shelled-in space is included for two additional operating rooms included to meet increased future demand. There will also be an operating room in the obstetrical suite specifically for caesarian sections.
- Obstetrics – space for an anticipated 2,150 annual births in the region. This also includes midwifery services.
- Diagnostic imaging – including an MRI and future expansion capability.
- Respiratory therapy, laboratory and pharmacy services.
- Approximately 4,000 square metres for the nursing and medical careers program from the Grande Prairie Regional College.

FAMILY PHYSICIANS

Grande Prairie is currently served by 48 General Practitioners through 20 medical clinics. Family physicians and other primary health care services are coordinated through the Primary Care Network including the After-Hours Clinic and Chronic Pain Management Program. For more information on health services in Grande Prairie, including family physicians accepting new patients, visit grandeprairiepcn.com.

QEII

The Queen Elizabeth II (QEII) Hospital currently serves as the main hub for healthcare in the region. With 161 beds, QEII offers a variety of health services and also has the only Neo-natal Intensive Care Unit (NICU) North of Edmonton, for some of Grande Prairie's tiniest residents. Midwifery care is also available at the QEII as of January 2019.

Health services and programs will continue to be offered at the QEII once the new hospital has opened. Visit ahs.ca to find more information on services available at the QEII Hospital, including contact information.

COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

Various community based health programs are available in Grande Prairie. This includes public health services such as immunizations and chronic disease management programs, home care, addiction and mental health services including child and youth mental health services and opioid dependency, among many others. Additional information on community based programs and services in Grande Prairie can also be found at ahs.ca.

WELCOME TO GRANDE PRAIRIE

A YEAR-ROUND PLAYGROUND!

Grande Prairie is an ever-evolving, thriving community thanks to the young and vibrant population that keeps us active! Across all four seasons, our wide variety of community events and facilities keep the community buzzing year-round! Whether you are interested in sports and recreation opportunities or exploring the art and culture of the local area, there is always something happening for you to get involved in! Here is a highlight of just some of the many ways to enjoy the city throughout the year:

Spring is the perfect time to get some fresh air at one of our 150+ parks and playgrounds across the City, including Muskoseepi Park which has 18+ kilometres of trails that run right through the heart of Grande Prairie. Spring evenings are also the perfect time to plan a date night or family outing to one of the many shows taking place at Revolution Place and Grande Prairie Live Theatre!

Once summer hits, prepare to have a packed calendar! From May through to August, the city pulsates with a lively lineup of hallmark events including Canada Day, the Grande Prairie Stompede, the Grande Prairie International Street Performer's Festival, the Bear Creek Folk Festival and so much more in-between! If that's not enough for you, you can also take advantage of the hot temperatures at our newly re-opened outdoor pool or mini-golf at Muskoseepi.

Come fall, routine starts to settle in, but the fun is nowhere near stopping. Visit the Montrose Cultural Centre to check out the vast collection of the Grande Prairie Public Library, the latest exhibits and events at the Art Gallery of Grande Prairie, or take advantage of the last of the warmer temperatures by sipping an iced coffee on the Mamawe Concourse's new patio. Continue to stay active by hitting the pool or fitness centre at the Eastlink Centre or taking in a game of football at the CKC West Turf!

Our winters may be long, but they are never dull! They are another season full of events and festivals from Vegas Night downtown to the Festival of Trees, and much, much more! It's also a perfect time to visit Revolution Place to cheer on our Grande Prairie Storm at a home game or pick up your skates and snowshoes for some outdoor fun at Muskoseepi Park! If you need to get in out of the cold, try one of the many classes available at the Grande Prairie Museum or visit the latest exhibits at the Heritage Discovery Centre.

We're an energetic city and there is never any shortage of events and activities for you to explore year-round! We hope that no matter what time of year it is, you find something that hits your interest to get involved and have fun in the community!

ARTS & CULTURE

PHILIP J. CURRIE MUSEUM | WILLIAM VAVREK

Grande Prairie is a hub of art and culture in the region drawing residents from near and far to be entertained and inspired.

Whether you love music or comedy, you can catch one of the many shows the city hosts with local, national, and international artists. If art is your passion, you can take in the latest exhibit on display at Alberta's second largest public art gallery, the Art Gallery of Grande Prairie. If you want to try your own hand at making art, the Centre for Creative Arts has classes to help beginners get started and experienced artists sharpen their skills.

The following lists are just a small sample of the art and culture that Grande Prairie has available to its residents.

ART GALLERY OF GRANDE PRAIRIE

One of the largest cultural organizations in Alberta, the Art Gallery of Grande Prairie works to preserve, inspire, and share the world of art with the community and the region. Located within the Montrose Cultural Centre, the gallery offers free admission, art exhibitions, guided tours, educational programs, and activities for all ages. The Art Gallery features the Carlstrom Family Green Space, an interactive gallery, and self-directed studio space where visitors of all ages can participate in free art activities.

FORBES HOMESTEAD

The Forbes Homestead is one of the oldest buildings still standing in Grande Prairie. It contains the original log structure built in 1911, used as the first hospital in Grande Prairie, as well as the two storey add-on used by the Forbes family as their residence. The homestead was restored to its original form to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the arrival of the Forbes family and was opened to the public in 2010.

PARKS

BEAR CREEK OUTDOOR POOL | BEAUCHAMP PHOTOGRAPHY

With over 1,600 acres of parkland throughout the city, Grande Prairie is full of opportunities to get out and stay active.

These parks are as diverse as they are beautiful, including many amenities such as outdoor sports areas, spray parks, and dog parks. Many of our parks also feature year-round programming and are open for use by community groups.

Visiting parks is a great way to get out, enjoy your community and meet your neighbours while supporting a healthy lifestyle!

MUSKOSEEPI PARK

Muskoseepi Park runs through the centre of the city with 18 km of both paved and natural trails winding through the urban forest for walking, biking, and cross country skiing. The park features two large playgrounds, a splash park, an all-season pond for fishing and skating, outdoor basketball, tennis and lawn bowling courts, mini golf, disc golf, and bird watching facilities.

Muskoseepi Park is the place to be for festivals and entertainment. Grande Prairie's Canada Day, Heritage Day, and Municipal Government Day celebrations are held in the park and the outdoor amphitheatre with its hillside seating provides the stage for concerts, dance performances, and other shows throughout the season. Stop by the Ernie Radbourne Pavilion for information or to check out the fun and educational programs offered for children of all ages.

MASKWOTEH PARK

At the North end of Muskoseepi Park, across from Centre 2000, Maskwoteh Park features 900 metres of new trails, picnic areas and three new playground areas for children to enjoy. These new areas feature an outdoor classroom, a fossil hunt section, and a rocks and ropes area all with a unique dinosaur theme.

SOUTH BEAR CREEK

South Bear Creek Park offers a wide variety of recreational activities and facilities including ball diamonds, beach volleyball courts, bike skills park, and Bear Paw Par 3 golf course. The park also features a pavilion and picnic area, walking trails, and an off-leash dog park.

GRANDE PRAIRIE OUTDOOR POOL

The Bear Creek Outdoor Pool, a long-time community gem opened in the summer of 2019. The fully re-done facility will feature a water slide, games area, zero beach, and swimming lanes for use throughout the summer months.

DOG PARKS

For the four-legged members of the family, the City of Grande Prairie has one fully fenced off-leash dog park, and three neighbourhood off-leash areas.

100 PARKS

As a legacy project for the City of Grande Prairie's 100th Anniversary in 2014, 100 parks throughout the city were officially named after citizens who have contributed significantly to our city's history and helped make our community what it is today.

cityofgrandeprairie/100parks

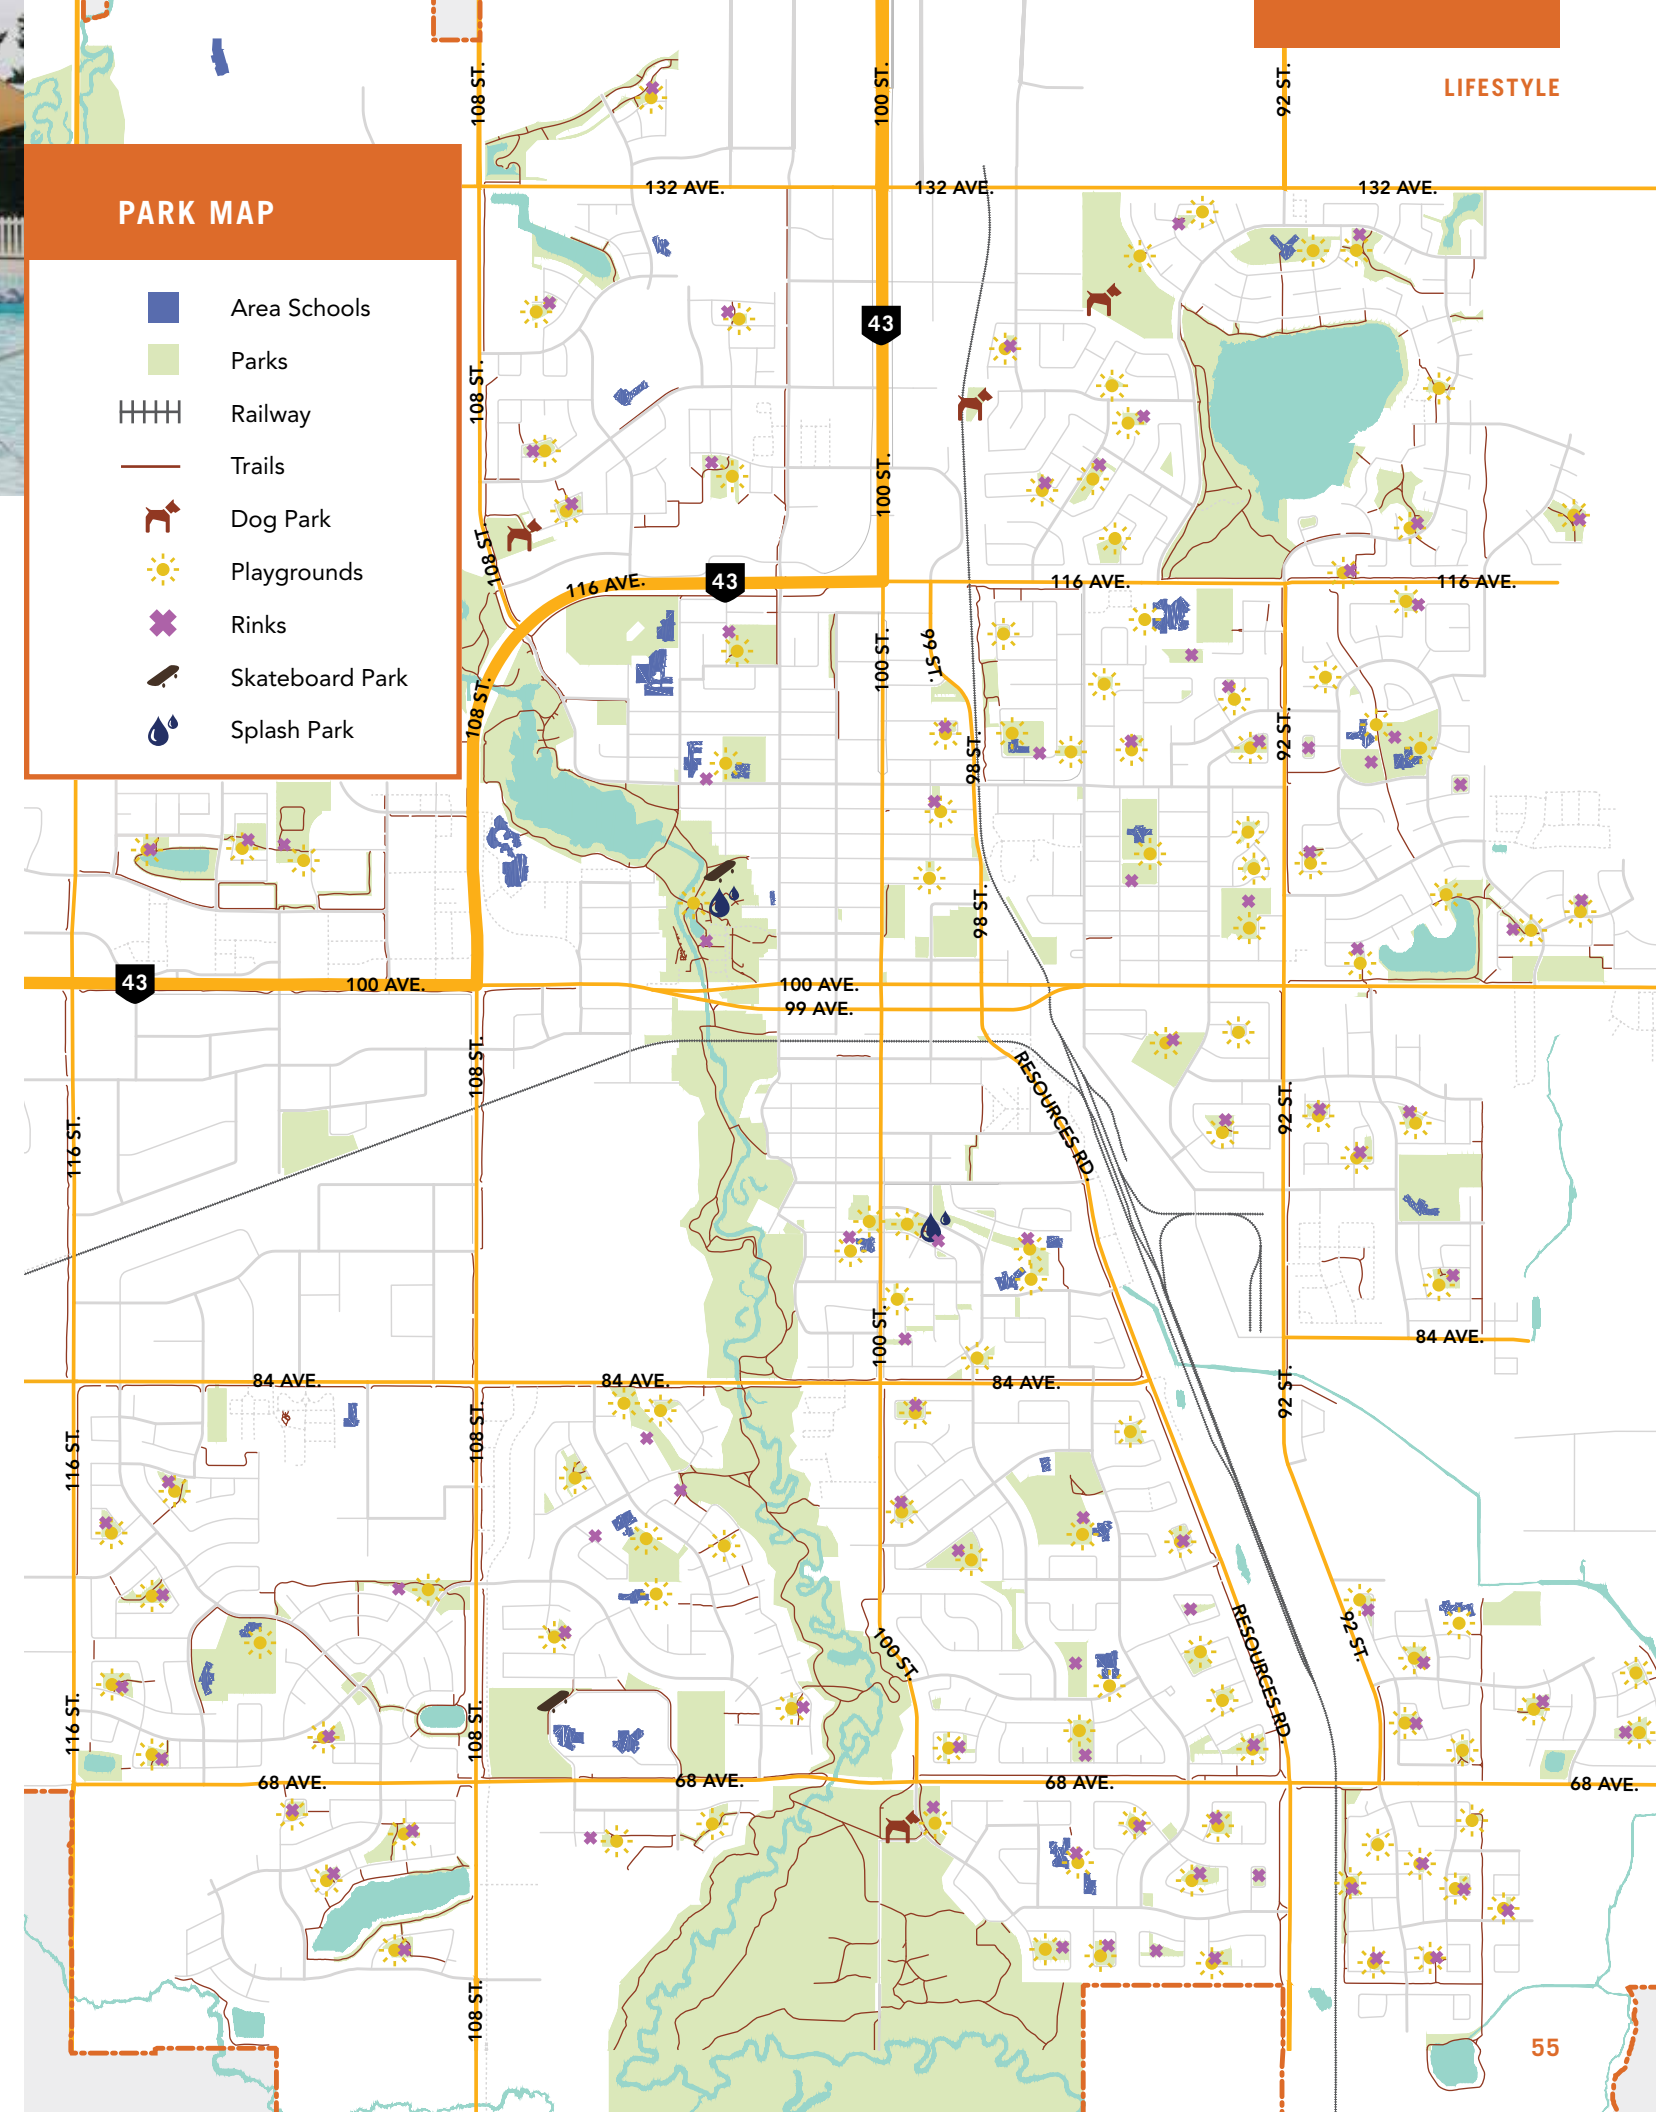

ICE RINKS

The city maintains outdoor community ice rinks including the Muskoseepi Park Skating Pond. In addition, the Neighbourhood Rink Program allows local homeowners an opportunity to build and maintain a small skating rink neighbourhood parks near their home. These rinks are maintained by volunteers and used throughout the winter for local skating.

a city of entrepreneurs

BUSINESS ADVANTAGE

CITYSCAPE | WILLIAM VAVREK

Grande Prairie continues to be recognized as a business-savvy, entrepreneurial centre with a wide breadth of benefits for businesses.

To name just a few of the advantages of investing in Grande Prairie, the city offers, rich natural resources, the presence of major corporations, status as a regional service centre for a market of over 288,000, a diverse economic portfolio, a young and affluent population, no provincial sales tax, and a low-cost tax regime. An investment in Grande Prairie is an investment in the future.

YOUNG & GROWING POPULATION

At a population of 69,088, Grande Prairie is one of the youngest and fastest growing cities in North America. With more residents preparing for kindergarten than retirement, the median age of Grande Prairie is a youthful 31.9, well below the provincial average of 36.7 and the national average of 41.2. Grande Prairie's population grew 37.5% between 2007 and 2018 by attracting talented men and women for the many opportunities available.

A DIVERSE ECONOMIC PORTFOLIO

Named Canada's Best Place for Business by Canadian Business and PROFIT in 2016, Grande Prairie is best known for its oil and gas activity. However, it is home to a wide range of industries. Grande Prairie's business-savvy community has been consistently recognized by the Canadian Federation of Independent Business as one of the most entrepreneurial communities in Canada, an ambition that can be seen across all of the city's major industries.

AGRICULTURE

Agriculture remains an important part of the Grande Prairie region. Almost four million hectares of farmland in the Peace Country produce wheat, barley, hay, canola, and alfalfa. Grande Prairie's world-renowned creeping red fescue helps keep lawns, parks, and golf courses green across North America.

ENERGY

Grande Prairie continues to profit from the wealth of oil and gas resources in the area. Grande Prairie is well positioned as the major oil field service centre supporting both the Montney and the Duvernay, two of the largest plays in North America. Output from the Montney has doubled since 2012 and now comprises a third of Western Canada's natural gas production. By 2040, it is projected to make up more than half of the country's production.

Grande Prairie-based companies service oil and natural gas activities in northwestern Alberta, northeastern British Columbia and into the Northwest Territories. This massive market aids in economic stability, keeping companies and employees working during periods of world economic uncertainty.

FORESTRY

Grande Prairie's forestry industry is one of the most important engines in the region with four large operators, Weyerhaeuser, International Paper, Canfor, and Norbord. While it is unusual to see such a concentration of major operators in a city of Grande Prairie's size, these operations are among the most competitive in Canada and the top industrial employers in the region. Northwestern Alberta produces 40% of Alberta's pulp, 64% of its oriented strand board (OSB) and 50% of its timber

RETAIL

As a regional hub, Grande Prairie has established itself as a lucrative market for local and multi-national retailers. The city is the centre of an affluent region consisting of a trading area of 288,496 people representing $4.7 billion in retail spending. As the population continues to grow, retail spending and demand for new stores continue to be supported by the young, fast growing city.

The city has a current retail inventory of 4.4 million square feet, including major retailers such as Costco, Best Buy, and HomeSense.

TOURISM

Tourism has become an important industry for the area with attractions like the Eastlink Centre and the Philip J. Currie Dinosaur Museum adding to the draw of the region's natural beauty.

Thanks to Grande Prairie's position on the scenic route to the Alaska Highway and the many shopping and recreational opportunities that the city has to offer, Grande Prairie has become a hub for shoppers and tourists alike.

THE WEST SIDE

In recent years, the west side of the city has blossomed into a major shopping destination for residents from across northwestern Alberta and northeastern BC. With over 1.7 million square feet of retail shopping space and growing, the West side of the city is home to many local, national, and international retailers. Major amenities such as Costco, Winners, and Best Buy are complemented by a variety of home décor and fashion options including Urban Barn, Home Sense, and Carter's OshKosh while local retailers such as Polite Society, Monaco Shoes, and Janina's Diamonds and Time offer unique brands and fashion finds not available elsewhere in the region. Westgate is also home to the largest single storey Canadian Tire in Canada.

CURBSIDE COLLECTION

Place accepted material in a Blue Bag, garbage in the Landfill Cart or yard waste in Clear Bags and place on your collection day by 7 a.m.

RESIDENTIAL HOMES & MULTI-FAMILY DWELLING

At your curb on Aquatera collection day

APARTMENT & CONDOMINIUM BUILDINGS

In designated collection area

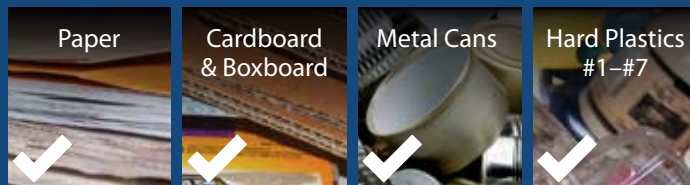

To find out your collection day, call 780.538.0340 or visit aquatera.ca/services/curbside-collection-calendar

Do you have more garbage than you can fit in your cart? You can place extra bags on the curb with Aquatera Bag Tags! They can be purchased at the following locations:

- Aquatera Landfill & Main Office
- Co-op
- Freson Brothers
- Save-on Foods
- Safeway

What goes in your BLUE BAG?

RECYCLABLES MUST BE CLEAN & DRY!

What goes in your CLEAR BAG?

WE COLLECT YARD WASTE CURBSIDE:

- packaged in clear transparent bags only
- each bag will weigh less than 20 kgs, and will have no rips or tears
- there is no limit to the number of yard waste bags placed at the curb
- bags must not contain garbage, branches, or animal waste
- small branches are accepted curbside, however they must be compressed in a bundle – maximum length one metre and maximum width 1/2 metre
- bags or bundles of branches must be placed at the curb by 7:00 a.m. on your regular collection day, and will be collected before 5:00 p.m. by a separate collection vehicle (not the regular garbage truck)

The benefits of your yard waste

From your curb to the landfill, we're using your yardwaste to create energy! Some of the key environmental values and benefits of the Bioreactor Landfill Gas-to-Energy Project include:

Producing an average of 15.2 million kwh of electricity on landfill gas alone annually – enough to power 14,000 homes/year.

Producing approximately 33,000 GJ of heat annually, on landfill gas alone – enough to heat 200 homes/year.

Improving air quality and reducing odors at the landfill by minimizing the surface emission of methane gas.

This significantly reduces Greenhouse Gas (GHG) emissions as well as utility costs, while improving air quality.

Emissions are reduced by approximately 63,000 tonnes annually, equivalent to removing 13,500 vehicles from the road each year.

Revenue from carbon offset credits provides us with an opportunity to stabilize rates for customers.
